Dear Clod:

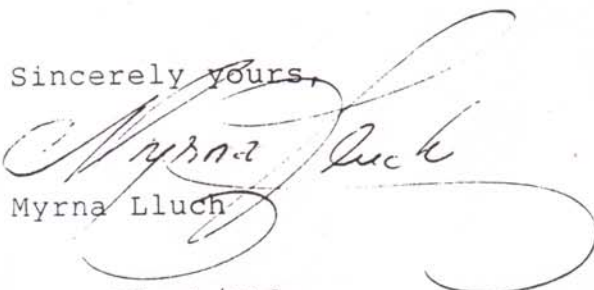

As I started reading "Coconut Island: Meeting the Coconut Family", I was fascinated by your excepcional imagination and inspiration to create interesting and wonderful stories for our children these days.

Undoubtly, I can predict and confirm that in the near forthcoming future, your name as a writer and your fine literary work will gain a place of preference in the difficult field of creating and writing children's literature, which is urgently needed in our elementary schools for the interest and enjoyment of our children.

I strongly stimulate you to continue writing, so you can become one of our most prolific contemporary writer of children's stories and contribute to the enrichment of such fascinating literature.

I am very much interested in attending the presentation of your lovely book. I would appreciate if you let me know a week or two in advance so I can make the necessary arrangements according to my calendar of appointments. Once again, congratulations and my best wishes of continued success as an author of fine children's stories.

Sincerely yours,

Myrna Lluch
