

Dear Clodomiro Giraud Jr.

I would like to express our thankfulness in you sending us a copy of your book. I have read it to the girls and they really enjoyed it. I thought it was excellent! Most of the books you get for children are all the same. And yours was different. It held your interest through the entire story. Great job!

By the way, I was flicking through the stations on T.V. a while back. And happened to see your editorial about your book on Current Affairs. I even stopped to listen. I love to read, so when I heard a new book being published. I just paused to listen. Never knowing that I would end up with a copy in our home and even auto-graphed by the author. It makes the value of the book that much more.

So I told the girls I was keeping this on my book shelf in my room. And when they wanted to hear the story I would read it to them. I said I wanted them to take care of it so someday I would be able to read it to my grand-kids.

Well thank again for your thoughtfulness. It is very much appreciated. And we wish you the best of luck with your Coconut Island Book. God Bless + Take care.

Have a Good Day!
